

Home Based Program

The Ready To Focus home based program is available anywhere in the world. You will be trained to use our neurofeedback equipment in your own home and be able to run an unlimited amount of sessions per authorized participant. An authorized participant is anyone in the home who has had an initial consultation completed by Ready To Focus.

Summary of what is included in program:

- Neurofeedback EEG Unit & laptop computer (which are returned to Ready To Focus after your completion of the program)
- Comprehensive training to utilize program in your home (One on one training from our staff...giving you personalized attention while you learn the program)
- Online monitoring of sessions & technical support
- Weekly sessions with psychologist to discuss clinical progress
- Weekly behavioral assessments
- Re-testing at regular intervals to assess progress
- Any family member can participate at same total cost per family once he or she has completed an assessment/initial consultation.
