

The comprehensive assessment at Ready To Focus is designed to answer your questions about why you (or your child) are experiencing difficulties. Understanding the brain and levels of dysregulation is very important to an accurate diagnostic picture as well as to develop a successful training plan. Your assessment will be completed by one of our clinical directors. We will focus on the area of the brain called the sensorimotor strip and assess between 3-5 sites across several locations. Our participants find the comprehensive assessment to be very thorough in understanding the brain and our clinical directors take the time to explain the results and answer all questions.
